An Immersive Online Medical Education Experience in Canada's most prestigious university

Program provides a strong foundation and cutting-edge knowledge in theoretical and applied aspects of medicine.

Students will learn the Canadian approach to clinical medicine, research and population health.

Active learning principles, promoting information exchange and collaborative education.

McGill distinguished professors lead this enriching academic and leadership program, composed of 12 live lectures and 5 real-time workshops with breakout sessions.

Topics covered:

- heart and brain health
- evidence-based medicine and research
- primary care and population health
- professionalism
- leadership
- preparing an application for residency training (postgraduate clinical training)

Key benefits

Through this program, students will:

Explore...

- the McGill Medicine community and its interdisciplinary / interprofessional approach to patient care.
- the link between clinical care and research.
- their understanding of health and illness, through concepts rooted in heart health, brain health, population health and healthcare system improvement.

Learn...

- the values and style of contemporary future-oriented medical practice.
- a set of tools and knowledge that will enhance their leadership skills and professionalism.
- to contextualize their future medical practice with sensitivity to the specific nature of the populations they serve.
- how to apply new knowledge to their own contexts and experiences.
- expand their horizons by getting a clearer understanding of medical career options.

Network with...

- instructors and receive guidance and support through live sessions.
- McGill medical students, residents and fellows.
